

ON TWO WHEELS

Spiti Valley - The Himalayas' Best Kept Secret
A Cultural Motorcycle Experience

° @'" ÔŁ5CB@) " @'@@ *3

Ladakh's lesser-known neighbor, the cold mountain desert of Spiti, is for travellers who dare to drift from the tourist trails. Spiti's postcard villages remain remotely tucked away in the lap of the mighty, barren Himalayas of Himachal Pradesh, and it is here that you can hike along Snow Leopard and Himalayan Wolf habitats, visit monasteries dating back over a 1000 years, sample a fascinating culture and cuisine different from the rest of India, and meet the kindest of people who live the harshest of lives. This is a world within a world.

- A grueling 900 kilometer ride on a Royal Enfield 500cc.
- Involvement with the locals where you would learn their way of living, cooking, music, campfire etc.
- Entangling in the culture with home-cooked food, musical performances, traditions & ceremonies.
- Insight into day-to-day living of the locals.
- Visits to different Monasteries, some of them are more than 1000 years old.
- Trek to Chandratal - since vehicles are not allowed near the Lake, we need to trek from our camp to the Lake. (Come on! You can walk a kilometer.)
